Notes:

Giuseppe Garibaldi

In an exhibit of paintings influenced by recent travels to Italy, Jerry Ross is exhibiting several portraits of Giuseppe Garibaldi, the famous general of the Risorgimento. There is also one large battle painting featuring Garibaldi on a white horse, an allegory to the battles fought to unify and liberate Italy. Another portrait is a small painting of a retired Italian worker, "Vecchio operaio italiano." The majority of works (15 in all) are landscapes of Tuscany and one of Sicily, several of Oregon.

Ristorante Noli, which moved from the 5th Street Market to Monroe, is an authentic Italian eatery owned and operated by Davide Mulone and his wife Maggie McDonald. Davide, the chef at Noli, is originally from Genoa, Italy. The restaurant is dedicated to supporting local farmers providing organically grown produce, all natural beef, pork, and hormone free poultry.
